

I.T. Risk Management

ABOUT

ekko Consulting, Inc. specializes in the implementation of Information Security Management Systems based on the ISO27002 specification and ISO27001:2005 certification standards.

METHODOLOGY

There are a variety of risk management frameworks available to organizations. We utilize these frameworks and standards for performing risk assessments and for measuring IT related risks within organizations.

EXPERIENCE

EKKO is the leading ISO27001 consulting organization in the Bay Area and on the West Coast. We have successfully helped Enterprise organizations become certified to ISO27001.

INTRODUCTION

Risk management is the foundation for implementing a good information security management system. Designed and executed appropriately a good risk management program can reduce costs, enhance security and provide a common framework from which appropriate IT security, compliance and business decisions may be made.

RISK MANAGEMENT APPROACH

We have adopted our own tools and approach for evaluating and prioritizing IT and information security related risks within an organization. Our risk management process is documented, repeatable, scalable and sustainable.

Our process is easy to understand; this facilitates the risk assessment process and helps you gather the results you need to start managing risk at your organization.

We work your management personnel to help identify risks within your organization. Once complete, we strategize and help you plan for risk mitigation and remediation activities.

We facilitate raising risk and security awareness within the organization and help set up working teams and awareness training programs.

Our objective when working with our clients is to integrate security and risk management into IT and business processes.

We help identify critical assets and facilitate the risk assessment process; utilizing our tools results in reports that then serve as the foundation for your organization's risk management and security program.

ekko Consulting's risk management methodology, documentation and tools meet the objectives defined within ISO27001 and may be used for certification purposes.
